Services

Immigration

Amy has 11 years of experience providing service in employment-based immigration primarily in higher education and nonprofit settings.

She has processed numerous types of immigration casework assisting foreign national employees and their family members to study and work in the United States. She is an avid traveler and seeks to learn about all countries in the world.

She maintains knowledge of Department of Human Services (DHS), Department of State (DOS), Department of Labor (DOL), Student and Exchange Visitor Program (SEVP) and United States Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) regulations as they impact the international community.
