Tim is a skilled litigator who represents clients in all aspects of complex business litigation and intellectual property litigation in state and federal courts across the country.

Tim represents clients in litigation involving trade secret and non-compete disputes, patent infringement and licensing disputes, contract disputes, business torts and technology-related claims. Tim provides practical legal advice that is aimed at helping clients accomplish their business goals. Tim has helped clients resolve many matters through negotiation, but he has also successfully taken cases through trial.

Tim is also the Chair of the firm's E-Discovery Strategy & Advocacy Group and has deep substantive knowledge in the constantly changing field of e-discovery. Tim is an experienced advisor regarding the preservation of evidence and helps clients formulate defensible and effective discovery plans that are proportional to the needs of the case. Tim has also advised clients on cross-border discovery issues and data privacy issues in litigation, including compliance with the Global Data Protection Regulation ("GDPR") and other foreign data protection laws.

Tim has lectured and written extensively on e-discovery issues. Tim was an author of an e-discovery article published in the 2014 William Mitchell Law Review, Volume 40, Issue 2 (Article 5), entitled "Using Legal Holds for Electronic Discovery" and he also co-authored a chapter entitled "Privilege and Clawbacks: Considerations Regarding the Protection of Privileged ESI" for the 2017 Minnesota E-Discovery Deskbook. Tim is also a member of leading industry groups, including the Sedona Conference, the Electronic Discovery Institute and the Association of Certified E-Discovery Specialists.

Prior to joining Fredrikson, Tim was a law clerk for Judge Richard H. Kyle and Chief Magistrate Judge Arthur J. Boylan of the United States District Court for the District of Minnesota. Tim has also served as an adjunct instructor at the University of Minnesota Law School, teaching Law in Practice to first year law students.

Experience

Commercial Litigation

- Represented H.B. Fuller in winning a $12.8 million arbitration award against Accenture in a dispute regarding a global ERP implementation. View Star Tribune article.
- Obtained a $59.4 million settlement for the City of New Brighton in a dispute with the Army. New Brighton vs. United States of America: 84-CV-1110 (D. Minn. January 2015). View Star Tribune article.
- Represented court-appointed receiver in recovery of $12 million for victims of Ponzi scheme operated by Minnesota Print Services, Inc.
- Obtained a favorable settlement for the purchaser of heavy construction equipment that was defective.

Intellectual Property Litigation

- Represented a public company in defeating a $62.3 million theft of trade secret and breach of contract claim. After two years of litigation, Tim helped the client defeat each of the plaintiff's claims on summary judgment. The Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed the victory in 2018. In addition, Tim helped the client recover nearly a million dollars in attorneys' fees and costs for successfully defeating the plaintiff's lawsuit.
- Represented a leading medical device company in a lawsuit against a competitor who began pilfering the client's technical and sales personnel to gain its confidential information and introduce a competing device. Tim and the litigation team helped the client initiate an action for trade secret misappropriation and breach of certain employees' employment agreements, among other claims. After a year of litigation, we obtained a temporary restraining order, a preliminary injunction, and ultimately achieved a very favorable settlement for the client.
- Advised and represented clients in patent infringement cases and licensing disputes that have resulted in positive outcomes for the clients.
- Represented a public company in an inventorship dispute that resulted in a favorable settlement for the client.
- Obtained a substantial settlement for a family-owned business in trade-secret litigation against a publicly-held company.

E-Discovery Strategy & Advocacy

- Counseled clients on cross-border data transfers, data collection and processing
- Helped clients address data privacy issues in litigation and develop strategy to avoid the inadvertent production of personally identifiable information
- Assisted clients in the development of tailored preservation, collection and review strategies that reduced the burden and cost of e-discovery.

- Advised and helped clients on addressing complex questions regarding the preservation of potentially relevant information.
- Assisted clients in negotiating an effective ESI protocol that helped reduce the expense of e-discovery and minimized or eliminated the expensive motion practice on “discovery about discovery.”
- Represented clients at court appearances and have taken/defended depositions that address e-discovery matters.
